Re: Chevening Scholarship Programme

I am pleased to provide this reference in support of Mr. Abdelbary Mostafa Algamel's application for the Chevening Scholarship.

I have known Abdelbary since 2018 through our work at the Partnership Community Organization in Libya. At that time, he joined the organisation as a volunteer during the early stages of its development, even before it was formally registered in 2020. During this period, and particularly throughout the challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic, Abdelbary demonstrated a strong commitment to community service and development initiatives.

After the organisation was officially established, Abdelbary continued working with us in a professional capacity as a Technical Engineer and later as a Project Manager. In these roles, he has been responsible for supporting the technical implementation and coordination of several community development initiatives.

One of the most notable projects he led and supervised was the Livelihoods Programme implemented in 2022, which provided vocational and professional training to 225 participants with the aim of improving employability, reducing unemployment, and promoting sustainable development in the local community. Abdelbary played a key leadership role in this project. He contributed to the planning process, coordinated with partners and stakeholders, and helped guide the project team throughout the implementation stages.

His ability to work collaboratively with different groups and maintain a structured approach to project management was particularly valuable. He combines technical competence with a genuine dedication to social impact.

Beyond his technical skills, Abdelbary possesses qualities that are essential for future leaders. He is reliable, thoughtful in his decision-making, and capable of communicating effectively with colleagues, partners, and beneficiaries. His work consistently reflects a strong sense of responsibility towards community development and public service.

I believe that studying in the United Kingdom through the Chevening Scholarship will allow Abdelbary to further develop his leadership and management skills. Given his commitment to contributing to development initiatives in Libya, I am confident that he will make good use of the knowledge and networks gained during his studies.

I strongly support his application and believe he will represent both Libya and the Chevening community with integrity and dedication.

Sincerely,

Sofyan Aldbeeb
